Amerisure introduces resources to help businesses prepare for severe weather

FARMINGTON HILLS, Mich., May 24, 2016—To help businesses prepare for hurricanes, tornados and hail storms, Amerisure Insurance Company has developed resources to help protect businesses and workers. The tools provide information about what to do before, during and after severe weather impacts businesses.

“The next several months could potentially be a critical time for our policyholders with businesses located in areas prone to severe weather,” said Kevin Clary, Vice President of Loss Control.

“Amerisure is dedicated to proactively addressing exposures by developing resources that provide tips on how to help prevent damage and recover quickly if an organization is impacted by a hurricane, tornado or hail storm.”

Amerisure’s website includes an “Industry Tools” section where visitors can download valuable worksheets and tips to help protect their businesses. Each piece provides recommendations to prepare for various weather conditions that could potentially cause property damage or injury to employees. To access, go to amerisure.com/Tips.aspx.
